RAMBLERS

The beauty of the rambler rose is so well known, we will not attempt to describe it. Among the very choicest are, Dorothy Perkins, pink; Dorothy Perkins white; Excelsia, scarlet; Crimson Rambler and Climbing American Beauty.

See Prices Page 13

BOSTON IVY

This is the famous ivy used so extensively on brick, stone and stucco buildings. The foliage is dense, completely covering a surface, and the autumnal tints of green and red are unsurpassed for beauty.

WISTERIA, PURPLE-CHINESE

One of the best Wisterias, rapid growing, pretty foliage, hardy, great clusters of flowers, resembling clusters of grapes. Nothing better in vines.

Wisteria, white, same as the purple only in color.

SPIREA VAN HOUTTE

Graceful, with long drooping sprays thickly studded with handsome pure white flowers; hence its popular name bridal wreath. The finest spirea of them all. Our illustration was taken from one of these beautiful shrubs in bloom.

SPIREA ANTHONY WATERER

Low growing, pink flowers, periodical blooming through the summer. Used for edging and in front of shrubbery.

HYDRANGEA, P. G.

Bush form. Will grow on any soil. Too well known for description. Profusion of flowers from mid-summer until hard freezing in autumn. Desirable for cemetery planting and hedges.

See Price List, Page 14

HYDRANGEA, HILLS OF SNOW

NORWAY SPRUCE

NORWAY SPRUCE

One of the most valuable of evergreen trees, grows in perfect pyramidal shape. Beautiful for landscape work. Valuable as a Christmas tree and can be planted and allowed to grow for lumber purposes. Fine as a wind break.

FORSYTHIA, (Golden Bell)

Medium sized shrub, flowers bright yellow, appearing very early in spring, just before leaves.

CATALPA BUNGI

(Umbrella tree)

Tree grows in perfect umbrella shape, hence its name, foliage very dense, making perfect bird houses for the birds to build their nests. Leaves large, heart shape and deep green. Very desirable for lawn or cemetery planting.

Page 14

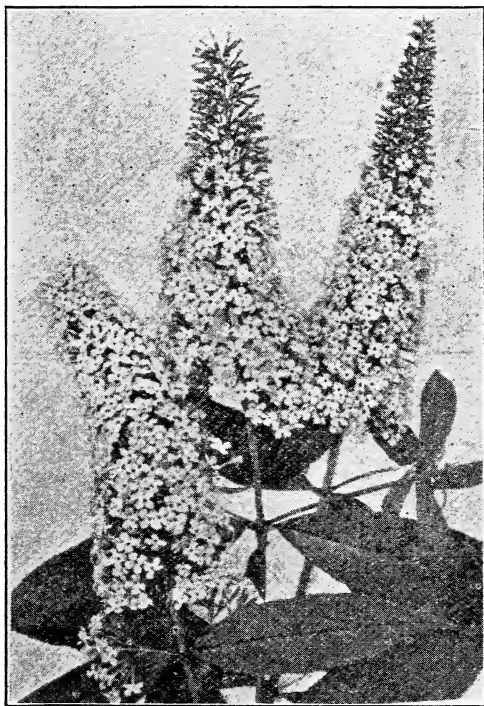

CATALPA BUNGI

DEUTZIA

A very desirable shrub, producing a profusion of white flowers, late in June. Hardy in all localities.

See Price List, Page 14

BUTTERFLY BUSH

A peculiar shrub, new growth each summer, about 4 ft. in height. Long tapering panicles of lilac colored flowers. This shrub is especially interesting to children owing to the large number of butterflies which are attracted by it.

RHODODENDRON EVERGREEN SHRUB

Rhododendron Maximum Broad-leaved evergreen shrub, large clusters of delicate pink flowers,. Perfectly hardy in N. Y. State. This is one of the shrubs that takes the man's eye who is desirous of having his place a little nicer than the other fellow. This shrub does best on the shady side of a building. Will also grow in shade of trees. Our price is on large well rooted clumps, $2.00 each, $11.00 per 6.

Fruit Trees, Vegetables and Berries

HYSLOP CRAB APPLE

HYSLOP CRAB APPLE

An orchard is not complete without some of these beautiful crab-apples. The bright red color, and fine flavor make it the most valuable for home use.

See Price List Page 17

VICTORIA RHUBARB

Large, thrifty growing. Delicious during the early summer months. Very beneficial to the health. Rhubarb lasts for years, it should be taken up at intervals of about 3 years and a part of the roots removed, especially where the clump is broadening out; thus preventing the stalks from growing small. Requires rich soil.

See Price List Page 18

HORSERADISH, MALINER KREN

This is the vegetable we use to tone our appetites in the spring. Grows large and vigorous, sweet and tender.

See Price List Page 18

ASPARAGUS

ASPARAGUS

Easily grown needs very little attention and lasts for years. Well rotted straw, leaves or barn-yard manure liberally applied in the autumn make an excellent fertilizer. What is better in the early summer than asparagus.

See Price List Page 18

MALINER KREN HORSERADISH

WAITS PERFECTION
(Strawberry)
FALL-BEARING

A new variety. So far this berry has proven very satisfactory, in most all respects. Through my experience as a nurseryman it is best to plant new varieties of the fall-bearing berry that has been recently originated, as we find after repeated plantings year after year, the plants divert back to the spring bearing sorts, thus producing little if any berries in the autumn.

See Price List, Page 19

LUCRETIA DEWBERRY

I believe this to be the most profitable of blackberries, easily grown, all localities. This berry combines the good qualities of all blackberries.

LUCRETIA DEWBERRY

DOWNING GOOSEBERRY

A garden is not complete without at least one-half dozen bushes of this delicious berry.

See Price List, Page 19

CHERRY CURRANT

The most reliable of currants.

See Price List, Page 17

CHERRY CURRANT

PLUM FARMER BLACK RASPBERRY

THE PLUM FARMER

The Plum Farmer ranks as the foremost of the black varieties of raspberries. Early, firm, large, most productive and fine flavor. The seeds are not noticeable as in most black varieties. There are more acres of Plum Farmer growing than all other black varieties combined.

HONEY SWEET BLACK RASPBERRY

HONEYSWEET BLACK RASPBERRY

A new late variety large, firm and of a honey like flavor.

ROYAL PURPLE RASPBERRY

ROYAL PURPLE

A new variety of purple berries, it has the good qualities of the Columbian and a brighter red color.

COLUMBIAN PURPLE

One of the first purple raspberries and still the most widely grown. It must be very satisfactory.

CUTHBERT RED RASPBERRY

WORDEN GRAPE

This fine grape should be planted in your collection for home use. A few days earlier than the Concord, color dark. Delicious flavor.

See Price List, Page 19

WHAT THEY THINK OF US

---

East Lynn, Ill., May 1, 1926

Mr. A. G. Blount,
Hastings, N. Y.

My dear Mr. Blount:—

The rhododendrons and ferns arrived this morning, and they are certainly fine plants; the rhododendrons got here with hardly the loss of a leaf. Several of my neighbors fell very much in love with it, and I think at least a couple of them are going to order one, either this spring, or later on. The ferns, too, were much larger than we expected to receive; the roots are so large and strong that they will make large clumps in a couple of years or so.

Very truly yours,

Maude M. Palmer.

Mr. A. G. Blount,
Hastings, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—

Received your order May 18th. Was very pleased with it. In fact it came in the best shape of any nursery order that came around here this spring. You can look for future orders from me. I would like to get you prices on your Spirea Van Houtte, Flowering Hedge and also your fall prices on your other fall bulbs.

Yours truly,

Walter A. Utter,

A. G. Blount,
Hastings, N. Y.

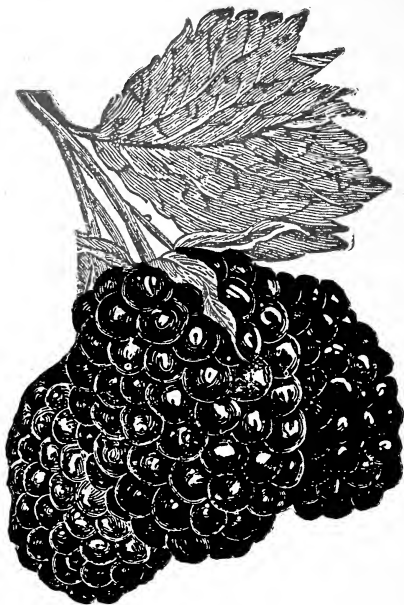

Dear Sir:—

The plants I got from you several years ago were nice and had the largest crop of berries I ever raised. I planted Chesapeake 18 in. apart each way and kept them in hills. The fruit stems dropped down between the rows when they got ripe and there was no place to walk to pick them.

Yours truly,

E. Bullard.
